

2010 CAROLINA LAMINITIS SYMPOSIUM

This past July, my beloved Buddy was diagnosed with laminitis and I HAD to know what caused this, what I did wrong, and how to help my horse. In my research, I met many people whose horses had "foundered". What I learned is that laminitis is very complex. I met two wonderful people who have dedicated their lives to studying this terrible disease.

Dr. Don Walsh, a veterinarian from St. Louis, who has been researching laminitis for 25 yrs. and established the Animal Health Foundation which has funded many cutting edge research studies; and Kathryn Watts, a forage specialist from Colorado who has herself, suffered the ravages of laminitis and has cutting edge forage information funded by AHF. She is a woman on a mission.

Please join us in learning more about laminitis and help us support this worthwhile foundation.

The Story of the Animal Health Foundation

The goal of the Animal Health Foundation (AHF) is to find the cause and way to prevent laminitis-founder complex in horses.

The foundation donates funds to major researchers in the field of laminitis. AHF also offers information to help horse owners prevent their horses from becoming victims of the painful, crippling disease.
